Worked like a champ...only time I had to hand dig was when ground was too "soupy" and collapsed into the feed pipe when I pulled the head...if you're having a leak...wait till ground firms up and you can pull cracked sprinkler body and replace w/o digging! I raised up all my heads with extension risers that were surrounded by grass with no issues...just unscrewed top cap, then inserted a 1/2" rod down into the feed pipe (to keep dirt out and guide new body onto the pipe threads) and removed body with the wrench...worked as advertised. made in the USA!

Although I was hesitant to purchase this wrench based upon the price, let me assure you it is well worth the price in saved time and effort. It is extremely well made and accomplishes multiple functions with ease. After working to remove, repair and replace 10 Hunter PGP sprinklers by hand, I decided to purchase this wrench. With this wrench I was able to do the same work on 25 more Hunter PGP sprinklers in much less time then the previous 10 had taken. Needless to say, I'm extremely pleased with my purchase.

This tool gets the job done. It is expensive but very well built and should last a very long time.
